Remanufactured DPF or new?

Diesel Particle Filter operation is based on capture of soot particles on filter channel walls and in wall pores. Captured soot is then burned into ash when exhaust temperature reaches sufficient level, e.g. under highway driving conditions. After certain driving hours the ash accumulation in channels increases exhaust back pressure (and increases fuel consumption) to level where DPF shall be maintained. In this remanufacturing process the collected ash and other soot residuals are removed and substrate condition is ensured against cracks, broken channels and wrong position inside canning. This process can be repeated up to 5 times but it shall be done in recommended intervals to avoid ash sintering and permanent filter damage.

FennoSteel manufactures new DPFs and remanufactured ones. Please contact our sales for more information!
